Controller:

The JavaScript application logic itself, which uses the Model and the View just as a server-side application would do so

Model:

JavaScript managing data controlled via Ajax calls to the server-side application

View

JavaScript managing the XHTML page's DOM structure, abstracting the display from the rest of the application